About us

Causeway Education exists to ensure that progression is not determined by privilege.

We are a national charity that works with universities, schools, and third sector organisations to help redress inequalities in access to higher education. By providing sector-leading workshops and training, we support students, teachers and WP staff in the fight for a fairer education system.

Like every organisation, in 2020 we've had to adapt. Our online webinars have enthused and engaged thousands of participants, with 96.8% telling us they found them useful or very useful. Whatever the future brings, face-to-face or online, you can rely on our workshops to be:

- ✓ High-quality: drawing on our passion and expertise, you can depend on our workshops to engage participants.
- ✓ Collaborative: we work hard to understand our partners, recognise their expertise, and tailor our programmes and workshops to meet their needs.
- ✓ Practical: we provide actionable support in the form of user-friendly tools and sector-leading resources.
- ✓ Evidence-led: we take time to understand problems, identify needs and form considered solutions in conversation with latest research.

If you're interested in partnering with us, we are available for bookings, enquiries, or just a chat! Please send us a message at info@causeway.education or call 020 3808 5410.

Pricing

We pride ourselves on offering sector-leading content and delivery. All our workshops have been refined and improved and we are convinced you will not find better.

As a result of ongoing effects of the COVID-19 pandemic, our workshops and training sessions continue to be held mostly online, although we are keen to transition back to in-person sessions once restrictions allow.

To account for the lack of travel expenses, the full price of our online sessions is £900 per session for student-facing workshops and £1,125 per session for staff training. These prices represent a 25% discount on the price for face-to-face delivery. There is no limit on the number of students or staff who can attend a session.

As part of our charitable aims we subsidise the price of workshops for universities and third-sector organisations. We further heavily subsidise the cost for schools, applying a 60% discount. This means our student-facing workshops are priced at just £360 per online session (£480 in-person) and our online staff training sessions just £450 per online session (£600 in-person).

Personal Statement

1. Over-emphasis on extra-curricular activities
2. Failure to show academic success to the highest degree
3. Not developing a clear focus or theme
4. Poor editing and grammar
5. Not proofreading and registering
6. A tendency to overstate achievements
7. Lack of demonstration of leadership

For students

Application mentoring

April–January

Years 12 & 13

On request

End-to-end application mentoring for those facing barriers to HE is our flagship offer, honed after years of experience increasing progression among state school students. Mentees follow subject-specific pathways designed by academics and teachers to enable them to present the best version of themselves.

An independent study by the Sutton Trust and Dr Steven Jones found 100% of Causeway mentees sampled received at least one offer from a Russell Group university, far exceeding the offer rates achieved by a control group.

In 2020 we partnered with UCL, KCL, LSE, Oxford, and Leicester to offer bespoke application mentoring to more than a thousand summer school students.

We are delighted to work closely with each of our partners to tailor our mentoring offer to their specific requirements. Mentees commonly receive:

- ✓ Access to our OSCAR applications platform, which provides an intuitive framework for planning, writing, and editing an outstanding statement, alongside interactive modules on course choice, interviews and more.
- ✓ A subject-specific expert mentor, specially trained in personal statement development, to guide them through the application process. Partners may also choose to employ their own mentors.
- ✓ Signposting to wider reading and structured activities that ensure applicants understand their subject and boost their academic suitability.

of 2019-20 mentees felt Causeway's mentoring helped them get a place at university

"There is no downside to the mentoring. I would say it has been the most useful thing I could have in applying to university, and I feel lucky to have been able to access it."

Offer-holder mentoring

May–September

Year 13

On request

The fight for a fairer, more diverse HE landscape doesn't stop when offer letters land in students' inboxes. Successful applicants still face significant barriers that may prevent them from taking up the offers they have worked so hard to receive.

Our offer-holder mentoring supports prospective students at your institution to overcome many of these barriers. By pairing offer-holders with a subject-specific and specially trained expert mentor, it accomplishes three overlapping purposes:

- ✓ Puts applicants in the best possible position to meet their offer by providing academic support to students who cannot afford private tutoring.
- ✓ Boosts retention by keeping students engaged over the summer months and allaying any concerns that university study "isn't for them."
- ✓ Prepares students to succeed at your institution by offering subject-specific insight into what it's really like studying their chosen course, alongside further reading and activities that develop their academic abilities.

We would be delighted to tailor our offer-holder mentoring to the specific requirements of your institution. Please get in touch with us to discuss further.

Personal statement masterclass: Planning

 60-120 minutes

 Years 12 & 13

 See p. 4

Personal statements are our speciality. Over the summer we have worked with the Sutton Trust to deliver this interactive workshop online for more than 6000 FSM and first-gen HE applicants. In this session students:

- ✓ Learn what admissions tutors really want from a personal statement.
- ✓ Discover how to present the best versions of themselves by effectively analysing and showcasing their experience, skills, and knowledge.
- ✓ Leave with a detailed plan for developing an outstanding statement.

"The energy in the 'room' was really positive and stayed that way right until the end. No mean feat in an online session with around 150 seventeen-year olds!"

- ✓ Ideas for engaging activities that measure student progress.
- ✓ Approaches that makes reporting your programmes' effectiveness easier.

"[Causeway]'s research and sessions are excellent; not only do they know what works but they helped [...] implement their findings. Their delivery and resources are brilliant, I couldn't recommend them more."

Abigail Rowse, University of Nottingham

Delivering high-quality online workshops

 60-120 minutes

 See p. 4

Keeping participants engaged in an online webinar is no easy task. You cannot simply rinse and repeat activities that have worked well in a face-to-face environment. Drawing on our research and experiences in 2020, this workshop:

- ✓ Provides actionable advice on getting participants involved while adhering to safeguarding guidelines.
- ✓ Discusses practical example scenarios and how to approach them.
- ✓ Can be designed in a bespoke manner to treat specific platforms/VLEs.

Raising engagement: Speaking a school's language

 60 minutes

 See p. 4

WP departments need to work closely with schools in order to be successful. But we find that there can sometimes be misunderstandings about what schools need most. This session will help to head off these scenarios by:

- ✓ Clearly explaining the demands placed on schools and their priorities.
- ✓ Providing actionable suggestions for adjusting WP programmes to maximise impact on a school level.

Ambassador training for engaging online delivery

 60-120 minutes

 See p. 4

Ambassador training may not be high on the priority list, but with so much uncertainty in HE, the need to connect with potential students has never been higher. This session is designed specifically to support student ambassadors in developing a confident approach to engaging students online. Topics include:

Upgrading your IAG

What is IAG and how to can it be delivered with pedagogy?
How to balance pace and depth

The foundations of working online

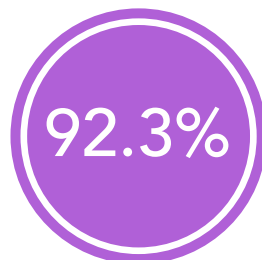

Techniques for live delivery and pre-recording
Using online survey programmes (e.g. Slido) to drive engagement
Setting expectations

Developing your online personality

When and how to ask questions to ensure maximum engagement
Using the appropriate language
Learning not to fear silence
Considerations for students with additional needs

Ambassadors will leave with:

- ✓ Increased confidence to deliver engaging online sessions safely
- ✓ New approaches and activities to implement straight away

of ambassadors we trained in 2020 agreed or strongly agreed that the training would influence their day-to-day practice
